OUR JUVENILES.

An Old Saw.

A dear little maid came skipping out
In the glad new day with a merry shout;
With dancing feet and flying hair
She sang with joy in the morning air.

"Don't sing before breakfast, you'll cry before night!"
What a croak, to darken the child's delight!
And the stupid old nurse, again and again,
Repeated the ancient, dull refrain.

The child paused, trying to understand;
But her eyes saw the great world rainbow-spanned;
Her light little feet hardly touched the earth,
And her soul brimmed over with innocent mirth.

"Never mind—don't listen—O sweet little maid!
Make sure of your morning song," I said;
"And if pain must meet you, why, all the more
Be glad of the rapture that came before.

"O, tears and sorrow are plenty enough;
Storms may be bitter and paths be rough,
But our tears should fall like the dear Earth's showers
That help to ripen the fruits and flowers.

"So gladden the day with your blissful song;
Sing on while you may, dear, sweet and strong!
Make sure of your moment of pure delight,
No matter what trials may come before night."
—Celia Thaxter, in Wide Awake.

Mountain Peaks.

When the world was comparatively young, and people were contented with legends and myths concerning the wonders of creation, just as children like fairy stories, it was the common belief that mountains were the work of gods and genii, who hurled them down from heaven, and allowed them to fall by chance, or else raised them as mighty pillars destined to bear the vaults of the skies. The Titans, who were not gods, threw down all the mountains of Thessaly in order to use them again for building up the ramparts round Olympus. Another story is that a giantess of the North had filled her apron with little hills and dropped them at certain distances that she might recognize her way. And still another, from the other end of the earth, is that Vishnu, one day, seeing a young girl asleep beneath the sun's too-ardent rays, took up a mountain, and held it poised upon his finger-tips to shelter the beautiful sleeper. This, the legend tells us, was the origin of sunshades. Nor was it even always necessary for gods and giants to lift up the mountains in order to remove them; the latter obeyed a mere sign. Stones hastened to listen to the strains of Orpheus' lyre; mountains stood erect to hear Apollo. It was thus that Helicon, the home of the Muses, took its birth.

Strange as are these stories, they are no more wonderful than the actual fact that, under the direction of the Creator, the two great giants, fire and water, have been and still are at work constructing mountains, slowly, it is true, and not by any sudden upheaval, as the lovers of the marvelous would have it to be, but none the less surely.

While wandering over the surface of the globe, and carefully observing its natural phenomena, we see that mountains are the slow growth of ages. When an insular or continental mass some hundreds or thousands of yards high receives rain in abundance, its slopes gradually become indented with ravines, dales, valleys; the uniform surface of the plateau is cut into peaks, ridges, pyramids; scooped out into amphitheaters, basins, precipices; systems of mountains appear by degrees wherever the level ground has rolled down to any enormous extent. In addition to these external causes which change plateaus into mountains, slow transformations in the interior of the earth are also being accomplished, bringing about vast excavations. Those hard-working men who, hammer in hand, go for many years among the mountains in order to study their form and structure, observe in the lower beds of marine formation, which constitute the non-crystalline portion of the mountains, gigantic rents or fissures extending thousands of yards in length. Masses millions of yards thick have been completely raised up again by these shocks, or turned as completely upside down, so that what was formerly the surface has now become the bottom. And in this way have been revealed the crystalline rocks. Plication, or folding, is also an important feature in the history of the earth. By this process, subjected to slow pressure, the rock, the clay, the layers of sandstone, the veins of metal, have all been folded up like a piece of cloth, and the folds thus formed become mountains and valleys.

One of the most interesting features in the study of mountains is the discovery of fossils, by which the naturalist accurately determines the age of rocks. Millions of these remains of animal and vegetable life have been preserved. Of course the tissues of flesh and drops of blood or sap are gone, but in their stead are particles of stone which have kept the form, and sometimes even the color of the creature destroyed. Within the thickness of these stones are shells of mollusks, disks, spheres, spines, cylinders in astounding numbers; we see the skeletons of fish with their fins and scales, the wing-sheaths of insects, and even foot-prints; upon the hard rock, too, which was formerly the shifting sand of the beach, we find the impression of drops of rain, and the intersecting ripple marks traced by wavelets on the shore. These fossils which lived millions of years ago in the mud of oceanic abysses are now met at every mountain height. They are to be seen on most of the Pyrenees, they constitute whole Alps, they are recognized upon the Caucasus and Cordilleras.

The wealth contained in mountains in the shape of silver and gold ore and precious stones has ever been, like the magic thread of the labyrinth, leading miners and geologists into the depths of their caverns. Formerly it was supposed to be an easy matter to reach these riches. All that a man needed was what was called "luck" and the favor of the gods. Boldly seizing some opportunity, such as the rolling away of a stone from a crevice, he had but to mutter some magic words, creep into a dark passage, and find himself beneath a vaulted roof of crystals and diamonds; he needed but to stoop and gather the rubies beneath his feet. Not by chance and magic do the miners of our day reach the rich veins of minerals. Study and hard work are behind all the engineering skill which penetrates our mountains.

When the summer is here, and you go forth with merry hearts and stout staves to climb some "Saddleback" or "Mount Tom," just stop and think of all the wonderful things which happen to make a mountain; and, as you glance up its wooded sides, and see the clouds resting upon its summit, or behold the purple tints of evening gathering about its majestic form, remember "the hand that made it is divine."—Harper's Young People.

SITTING BULL'S SPEECH.

Bill Nye, the Indian editor of the Laramie City Daily Boomerang, gives the following translation of Sitting Bull's speech to his followers:

"Warriors, I am the last of a mighty race. We were a race of chieftains. Alas! we will soon be gone. The Bull family will soon pass from the face of the earth. Ole is gone, and John is failing, and I don't feel very well myself. We are victims of the pale-faces, and our lands are taken away.

"Look at the sad remnant of the family of Sitting Bull, your chief. One sore-eyed squaw is left alone. Her face is furrowed o'er with the famine of many winters, and her nose is only the ruin of former greatness. Her moccasins are worn out, and the soldier pants she wears are too long for her. She also is drunk. She is not as drunk as she can get, but she is hopeful and persevering. She has also learned to lie like the white man. She is now an easy, extemporaneous liar. When we gather around the camp fire and enact our untutored lies in the gloaming, Lucretia Borgia Sitting Bull, with the inspiration of six fingers of agency coffin varnish, proceeds to tell the prize prevarication, and then the house adjourns; and nothing can be heard but the muffled tread of the agency corn beef, going out to get some fresh air. Lucretia Borgia is also becoming slovenly. It is evening, and yet she has not donned her evening dress. As she leans against the trunk of a mighty oak and scratches her back, you can see that her thoughts are far away. She is thinking of her childhood days by the banks of the Minnehaha.

"Warriors, farewell. Think of what I have said to you about the council fire, and govern yourselves accordingly. We will not murmur at the celluloid cracker and cast-iron codfish ball, but in the spring we will have veal cutlets for breakfast, and Peace Commissioner on toast for dinner. The squaw of Sitting Bull shall have a new plug hat, and if the weather is severe she shall have two of them.

"Warriors, farewell. I am done. I have spoken. I have nothing more to say. Sic semper domino. Plumbago erysipelas, in hoch euraka, sciatica, usufruct, limburger, gobraugh."

A General Defeated.

Mrs. J. G. Robertson writes: "I was suffering from general debility, want of appetite, constipation, etc., so that life was a burden; after using Burdock Blood Bitters I felt better than for years. I cannot praise your Bitters too much. *

What's in a Name?

The virtue of most of the patent medicines with which the market is flooded lies in the name, but the virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters lie in the fact that they cleanse the blood of impurities, and cure dyspepsia, billiousness and indigestion. Price $1 00, trial bottle 10 cents. *

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures all diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, female complaints, nervous and general debility, and builds up the entire system when broken down by disease.

CALIFORNIA PEARL FISHERIES.

The pearl fishery on the coast of Lower California is an important industry, no less than 1,000 divers being employed in bringing up the costly black pearl, which is found in a great state of perfection in the deep waters of La Paz. The pearl oysters are found from one to six miles off shore in water from one to twenty-one fathoms deep. Merchants provide hats, diving apparatus, etc., for the prosecution of the business, on condition that they can purchase all of the pearls found at prices to be agreed upon. These boats, which are usually of about five tons burden, sail up and down the coast from May to November, searching for the treasure. The product of a year's work is about $500,000, estimating the pearls at their first value. Of the entire yield of Mexican pearls, 10 per cent. are white, 40 per cent. are blue, and 15 per cent. are black. The blue stones are of little value, and, in general, the value of pearls depends a good deal upon the fancy of the purchaser, as high as $5,000 being sometimes paid for a single pearl. They are mostly sold in Europe.

A SPIDER BAROMETER.

A spider's web affords an excellent barometer. An old sportsman of Coldwater, Mich., claims that one preserved in his house has proved almost invariably correct. When the rain and wind are expected the spider shortens the thread which suspends the web. When reefs are let out, fine weather may be certain; but if the spider remains inert, rain will probably follow within a short time.

SAFFRON BUNS.—Make a sponge of best white flour, sweet baker's or brewer's barm and warm sweetened milk over night. Simmer, according to quantity, saffron threads in new milk, sweetened to taste, till all the color is extracted; let it cool to blood heat, add a quarter pound or half pound of oiled butter and work up to a light spongy consistency, with the barm and flour. Let it rise again; work on a warm board into small round buns and set them either in a tin with hollows for each or on a common baking tin; cover with warm cloths. Let them rise again and bake in a moderately quick oven for twenty to thirty minutes. When half baked wash over with warm milk and sprinkle with crystal sugar on top if desired. Enough saffron should be used to make the bun a deep yellow color when broken.

A NEGRO, one night at a meeting, prayed earnestly that he and his brethren might be preserved from what he called their "Upsettin' sins." "Brudder," said one of his friends, "you ain't got de hang of dat ar word. It's 'besettin',' not 'upsettin'." "Brudder," replied he, "if dat's so, it's so. But I was prayin' de Lord to save us from de sin of 'toxication, and if dat ain't a upsettin' sin I donno what am."

Burdock Blood Bitters

Cures scrofula, erysipelas, salt rheum piles and all humors of the blood. Cures dyspepsia, liver complaint, billiousness constipation, dropsy, kidney complaints, headache, nervousness, female weakness and general debility.

Daily Colonist.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 28TH, 1882.

L. P. FISHER, Advertising Agent, 21 Merchants Exchange, San Francisco, is authorised to receive advertisements for the columns of this paper.

A SUSPENSION.

A correspondent in another column asks a suspension of public opinion respecting Mr. DeCosmos' utterances in the House of Commons upon the subject of Independence. The writer asks that before accepting as authentic the information conveyed in the telegram we should await the receipt of official or semi-official reports of what the junior member really said. This request seems reasonable enough. It is wrong to condemn a man unheard. Mr. DeCosmos is entitled to a hearing. He should be judged by the report as it may appear in Hansard. We hope that the telegraphic report of his speech will turn out to have been much exaggerated; but while awaiting fuller information it may not be amiss if we were to say that the position Mr. DeCosmos occupies at Ottawa (he being the accredited agent there of the province) ought to have made him doubly careful in the expression of his sentiments. British Columbia does not desire Independence. She prizes her British origin, connection and title and every candidate who may offer on the independent platform at the approaching contest will get the "grand bounce"—whether he be Mr. DeCosmos or Mr. Anyone else.

ARIZONA INDIANS.

The Indians of Arizona are in open revolt and are slaughtering Americans and Mexicans indiscriminately. The territory has been shamefully neglected by the U. S. military authorities and at a mass meeting of several thousand citizens held at Tucson on the 26th April, it was unanimously directed that the following sarcastic dispatch be wired, as an open letter to the President and his Cabinet, and both Houses of Congress: "During rejoicings incident to the grand military display announced to take place at Fortress Monroe, we beg to offer you a skeleton to sit at your banquet. The fact is that nearly one hundred of our pioneers have within a few days been wantonly murdered in cold blood by devilish Apaches, whom cruel and mistaken policy permits to survive crimes. If some small portion of the expenditure incurred in your grand display could be devoted to such measures as would preclude the probability of our murdered dead, we could send you greeting of gratitude and cheer in place of our sorrow and helplessness and our desolation."

A WESTMINSTER ELECTION A HUNDRED YEARS AGO

(From the Pall Mall Budget.)

Time was when a Westminster election was regarded as the one test of public opinion in the south of England, as that of Yorkshire was in the north. Westminster was almost the only borough which was not capable of being put up for sale, as York was the only county constituency too big to be bribed or intimidated. The franchise in Westminster a hundred years ago was as free as it is now, every ratepaying householder possessing a vote, and the number of voters was not less than ten thousand. Consequently, when in 1774 the King, having made Pitt Prime Minister in the teeth of a hostile majority in the Commons, seized the moment of popular reaction against Fox to dissolve Parliament, the whole strength of the Court was used to prevent his return for his old constituency, Westminster. In the rest of the country the "Foxites" were thrown out by scores. No fewer than 160 of them, including the late Chancellor of the Exchequer, Lord John Cavendish, lost their seats and were already dubbed "Fox's martyrs," while the fate of Fox himself was still undecided. Parliament was to meet on May 18. The Westminster election began on April 1st. For the first week Fox was at the head of the poll, but then the devices of the enemy took effect, and by the 10th he had sunk to the bottom. No weapon was left unused against him. Satires, placards, caricatures, filled the print-shops and covered the walls. Amongst the most effective and the least coarse was the "Political Sampson," representing Fox carrying off the India House; and the "Triumphal entry of Carlo Khan into Delhi," showing Fox as the Mogul mounted on an elephant, which bore Lord North's face. But more potent instruments were employed. £8,000 was spent out of the Secret Service Fund against Fox at the previous election. It is certain that considerable more "golden pills," as the King called them, were distributed on this occasion. Missiles and weapons of all kinds were used. One of the most harmless was a dead cat thrown at Fox on the hustings which drew from one of Wray's supporters the remark that it smelt worse than a fox, and from Fox the rejoiner, "That was nothing extraordinary, seeing it was a 'poll' cat." Every day riots took place. The hustings in Covent garden were surrounded by a yelling and battling mob. On one occasion "300 sailors" of Lord Hood's "undertook to drive away their opponents, but the Irish chairmen, being retained by Mr. Fox's party, drove them back to their element, and cured the tars of their ambition of a naval victory." On another, 280 men in the Guards were marched down and delivered their votes in a body for Sir Cecil Wray, "which," says Horace Walpole, strangely enough, "is legal, but which my father in the most quiet times would not have dared to do." On the 1st of May there was a pitched battle in Covent garden between Fox's buthers, with marrowbones and cleavers, and Wray's supporters, armed with swords and blunderbusses, which was only ended by the intervention of a company of Guards, luckily before any lives were lost. Later on, a constable was killed near the hustings, and the Court tried to fix the murder on Fox's party, some of whom were tried at the Old Bailey, but triumphantly acquitted.

Meanwhile the Prince of Wales took part against his father, rode about in the "true blue" and yellow, and threw open Carlton House to the Whigs. But the most powerful agents in turning the tide in favor of Fox were a republican named House and the Duchess of Devonshire, the reigning beauty of the day. House kept "open house," and a free table for those who voted for Fox. The Duchess, with her sister, Lady Duncannon, toiled vigorously, being in every blackguard house in Longacre by eight o'clock in the morning." Many were the jokes to which their efforts gave rise. It was said that they were the loveliest beings who ever appeared upon a "canvass," while an Irishman told the Duchess he could light his pipe at her eyes; and Pitt disgraced himself by saying, "that things were going on well, in spite of the Duchess of Devonshire and the other women of the people." But the fascinating manners of the Duchess drove the rival canvasser, Lady Salisbury, who was plain and older and haughtier, out of the field. Fox gradually drew ahead, and at length, on the 17th of May, after the polling had been going on for forty-seven days, the votes stood as follows: Lord Hood, 6,694; Fox, 6,233; Wray, 5,998. Fox received an ovation such as had never been seen before. Mounted on a triumphal car, accompanied by an immense crowd on foot and a whole movement of horsemen wearing the blue and buff, the procession being closed by the carriages of the Duchess of Portland and Devonshire, drawn by six horses each, he was received in State by the Prince of Wales (also clad in blue and buff) and the Duke of Devonshire, on a platform erected in front of Devonshire House. Next day a grand banquet was given at Carlton House, which lasted for near twenty-four hours. But the contest was not yet over. Wray asked for a security, which the High Bailiff, Corbett, "a King's friend," granted, while he refused to make any return of numbers to the House of Commons. The object of the Court, however, of keeping Fox out of Parliament, was frustrated by his taking his seat for Kirkwall, in the Orkneys, or, as Pitt observed, "seeking refuge in Ultima Thule." A motion ordering the High Bailiff to make a return was opposed by Pitt, notwithstanding that it was supported by that Tory of Tories, his own Attorney-General, Scott, afterwards Lord Eldon, and rejected by a majority of 100. In June, when it was estimated that Fox's expense of the scrutiny cost £18,000, a similar motion was rejected by a hundred. At length, in Feb., 1785, when the scrutiny, having lasted eight months, had proceeded in two parishes only, Fox having lost 105 and Wray eighty-seven votes, a motion for an immediate return was only lost by nine, and in March was carried against Pitt by a majority of nearly forty. The Bailiff was subsequently cast in damages to the amount of £2,000 by a Middlesex jury. An act was afterwards passed restricting polls for the future to fifteen days, while if a scrutiny was granted the return was to made within thirty days. But the riots and disorders of elections went on with unabated vigour, as illustrated by Fox and Horne Tooke's struggle in 1796, and that of Sir Francis Burdett and Hobhouse in 1817, till a partial remedy was found in the Reform Bill of 1835 restricting the poll to two days, and a final quietus by the Ballot Act of 1879, introducing secret voting, abolishing the show of hands, and limiting the polls to a single day. The recent election was perhaps a little more quiet than one could have wished, but even the unopposed return of Lord Algernon Percy is better than the scenes of a century ago.

A New Type-Setting Machine.

Among the numerous companies seeking charters this year is one for the manufacture of type-setting machines. For several years, in a locked room at Colt's works, where only those having special permits were permitted to penetrate, a force of men have been at work under directions of the inventor completing a wonderful machine which is said now to have reached perfection. It is a marvelous piece of mechanism, both for what it does and for the simplicity of its parts. There is a key-board as of a piano, with the alphabet and numerals, and with combinations of letters and short words frequently used. A word of six or seven letters can be put in type by a skilled operator in as little time as an ordinary compositor would take to move his hand from his stick to his case. It sets up the type, arranges them in the shape of page or column, justifies the lines, divides the words, etc., with perfect ease. But more than this, no matter how fast the type may be set the machinery is distributing type still more rapidly, so that the cases are never empty. That is to say, the machine, under the hands of a skillful manipulator, does easily the work of three or four compositors. So many machines have been made for this purpose and have proved failures, that it requires much faith to believe that complete success has at last been achieved, but so the gentlemen interested believe, and most of the type experts who are allowed to inspect the machine seem to be convinced. The company has already received orders for machines from some large establishments. —Hartford Cor., Springfield Republican.

Disraeli and Prince Albert.

Some of the papers have been quite hysterical about the Queen's long friendship for Lord Beaconsfield and her keen appreciation of his talents. The real fact is that the Queen had scarcely ever seen Lord Beacodsfield when he became Prime Minister in 1868. He had managed to offend her Majesty and Prince Albert in the days when he was leading the protectionists; and it is, I believe, a fact that, until Mr. Disraeli was Chancellor of the Exchequer, he was never once invited to a State entertainment. These functions were then more frequent and more brilliant than they are now, and, so far as I remember, a formal protest against the exclusion was secretly sent to the palace by several of Mr. Disraeli's followers, it being pointed out that it was an unprecedented thing for the leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons to be thus neglected; but Prince Albert was not fond of Mr. Disraeli, and if he had lived it is quite certain that Lord Beaconsfield would never have been a court favorite. It is rather an odd fact, by the way, considering the high-flown eulogies of which the Prince Consort has ever been the subject, that the three statesmen whom he most disliked, and whom he did his best to thwart and put aside, were Lord Palmerston, Mr. Disraeli, and Mr. Gladstone. During the nine months Mr. Disraeli was in office in 1868, he managed to ingratiate himself with the Queen, who, in the first instance, would scarcely hear of his becoming Prime Minister, and the good impression he then left was rendered permanent during the first months of his second tenure of power.—London Truth.

What Some People Say.

That tall men are more given to suicide than short men. Perhaps they get tired of living so long.

That it has been discovered that in the manufacture of oleomargarine proof has been obtained of the use of fat from horses and dogs.

That it is remarkable that Bulwer, Dickens, and Thackeray were alike unhappy in marriage. Thackeray's wife was insane nearly all her married life. In all cases the wives survived the husbands.

That two jokers told L. W. Olinger, of Louisville, Ohio, that his wife and daughter were dead. They were alive and well, but Olinger had once played a joke on the jokers, and they told him a lie in retaliation. He was so shocked that when he found them safe at home he would not believe that they were alive, and has since been insane.

That a young lady having appeared at a charity entertainment in men's clothes her father dying shortly after disinherited her, his will saying—"I heard she appeared before promiscuous assemblies dressed in men's clothing to excite the admiration of the audience, trying to raise money to pay a church debt. I cannot devote any more to such purposes."

That the sunflower and lily are seen in printed dress fabrics, and in millinery ornaments, lace-pins, bangles, and fancy buttons of enamel under crystal.

That halibut and salmon and the smaller fry are coming into the market freely.

That the weather is at last growing warm and pleasant.

That farm products during the coming and the next few seasons will be very high. The demand for every description of produce on the railway will be enormous.

That farmers should hasten and clear their land and sow a larger area.

That in the U. S. Senate there are 57, and in the U. S. House 195 lawyers.

That a large number of candidates will offer themselves for election to the local House in this city.

That where many offer only four can be chosen.

That the Turkish law is excessively hard on a bachelar. He can only exist in any household after obtaining permits from the civil and religious authorities and then only upon showing that he is of good moral character.

That no English or Canadian mail arrived yesterday.

That some of the late laborers on the drydock are absolutely in want.

That they can get good wages on the railway; but have not the means to pay their way there.

That Darwin, the dead scientist, will be buried in Westminster Abbey, in close proximity to Sir Isaac Newton's tomb.

That there is a big "if" on which the vice-regal visit depends.

That the steamer Josephine has been lost in Skagit river.

That a great deal of tin for the B. C. canneries went down in the Tropic lost at sea off Buenos Ayres.

That Mr. Drummond will stand for re-election.

That the elections must be near at hand. The finance minister was actually seen to shake hands with a workingman yesterday.

That yesterday was the first really fine day the people of this burgh have enjoyed since January 24th.

That a drive into the suburbs is a most delightful experience.

That any person buying property anywhere within three miles of Victoria cannot go wrong.

That Mr. A. S. Farwell will be a candidate for the local legislature in Saanich district at the approaching general election.

SERGEANT MASON'S wife is in great luck. Of the fund raised for her benefit $7000 has been paid her and is still growing. She has been offered a situation in a Chicago store at $1500 a year by the same firm that offered her husband a place and salary, but declines. She says she is going to buy a farm, and after her husband gets out of jail she will make him settle down on it and stay there. Sensible woman.

POLICE COURT.—An incorrigible drunken vagrant named Millen was up yesterday before the police magistrate for creating a row on Humboldt street, Wednesday evening. After a hearing he was remanded three days for sentence.

FROM THE SOUND.—Steamer North Pacific arrived yesterday at 12:45 from Tacoma and way ports with mails, express, freight and passengers.

FROM CAPE BEALE.

NEWS FROM THE SEAL FISHERIES.

The Dominion steamer Sir James Douglas, Capt. Devereaux, which left here 12 days ago to provition Cape Beale, returned to port yesterday. The weather on the West Coast of the Island was so severe that Capt. Devereaux found it impossible to make a landing for eight days. Fierce gales swept over the coast and confined the British sealing fleet to close quarters in Barclay Sound, while the American fleet lay snugly at anchor in Neah Bay. Seals were very numerous and came close in shore as if to tantalize the fishermen who dare not venture out to attack them. Hundreds of these valuable fur-bearing animals were seen disporting within a biscuit's throw of the shore. For a few days' fishing the schooner Black Diamond took 310 seals. About 30 vessels are now engaged in this trade and a large catch is anticipated.

Canada—With an "If."

OTTAWA, April 26.—If the civil service bill now pending is passed, the Marquis of Lorne says he will visit the Pacific province in company with the Princess, who is expected here the latter part of May or early in June.

MONTREAL, April 23.—A duel is on the tapis between Desossiers, advocate, and Cieview, editor of La Patrete, arising out of differences of opinion on the Canadian independence question. The issue will be fought out in Maryland.

H. S. Goodhue, a lawyer of this city, whose family is one of the most respectable in the province, while on a tour of Belgium learned that the deposed bishop of Tourney had been sued by his successor for a large amount of bonds which he claimed as personal, which had been deposited in Burt and subsequently stolen by an American resident, who fled with them to the United States. Goodhue tendered his services and was retained to capture the thief. He followed the fugitive to Chicago and induced him to give up the booty. On reaching London Goodhue received a telegram summoning him to Brussels and there he was imprisoned for misappropriation of 1,400,000 francs. An eminent Canadian lawyer has been summoned to London and the protection of the British office invoked in his behalf.

Steamship Empire, from Departure Bay with coal, has arrived at San Francisco.

Steamship Barnard Castle for Departure Bay sailed from San Francisco Saturday.

Barques Lady Bowen and Plata arrived yesterday from Yokohama, both of them for Hastings Mills to load lumber. The Pilot will tow them up to-day.

The Alexander goes up to-day with the barque Niagara to load coal at Departure Bay.

A SEVERE FALL.—Yesterday afternoon as George Farron stood watching the operations of the blasters at Mr. Finlayson's new warehouse on Wharf street, he accidentally fell over the bank perpendicularly down a distance of some 14 or 15 feet striking the rocks at the bottom with fearful violence. The poor boy was picked up in an insensible state and conveyed to his residence on Pandora street where medical aid was promptly in attendance. The full extent of his injuries had not been ascertained last evening; but he is badly bruised about the head, ribs and legs. It was at one time feared that a broken leg was among the injuries sustained, this, however, turned out not to be the case.

DREDGING COAL.—Several punt loads of almost clean coal were taken up close to Welch, Rithet & Co's. wharf yesterday morning. A large quantity of big lumps was secured for use as the buckets passed up. Crockery, carpenter's tools and a variety of articles are also brought to the surface. The other day nearly a case of ale was recovered, the bottles being chiefly in excellent order and the contents, as tested by several competent judges, were pronounced superb.

PORT MOODY PROPERTY.—The sale of part of the Cooper estate at Port Moody yesterday by W. R. Clarke & Co. realized excellent prices. Choice lots were sold as high as $275, Mr. Coulthard of New Westminster being a considerable purchaser. The sale realized upwards of $5000 for about 20 lots.

FALSE ALARMS.—There is a by-law in force that imposes a penalty of $50 on any body convicted of sending in false alarms to the fire stations and Chief Engineer Borde is determined to make use of law. He offers a reward of $25 for the discovery of the party who turned on the alarm on Wednesday night.

RAILWAY NOTE.—W. A. Newell, ex-Governor of New Jersey, and now of Washington Territory, has been appointed President of the Seattle, Puget Sound and Gray's Harbor Railroad and Transportation Co., whose road is now about to be built along the Pacific coast in Washington Territory.

SPRINKLER ADVERTISING.—The street sprinkling contractor is converting his machine into a perambulating advertiser. He is purposing to extend the sides of the sprinkler and will, like the newspapers, charge so much per square for space occupied.

THE DEPOSIT.—We understand that the $10,000 deposited by the Clements syndicate to the credit of the receiver-general of Canada has been transferred to the credit of this province.

"GO-AS-YOU-PLEASE."—A challenge distance 25 miles "go-as-you-please" for $100 will be found in another column. Who will accept it?

LADIES—For nice lawn tennis shoes go H. Mansell's. *

Supreme Court.

(Before the Chief Justice.)

Jaques vs. McKenzie & Meston—Interpleader action.—Judgment in this case was rendered yesterday by the Chief Justice giving a verdict in favor of defendants on the ground that the plaintiff's bill of sale was not in conformity with the Bills of Sale Act and therefore void as against an execution creditor.

Mr. Walls, instructed by Mr. Hett, for plaintiff; Mr. Pollard for defendants.

LABOR.—The journeymen painters met last evening and, we believe, decided to demand an increase in the rate of wages now paid.

VEILED TREASON.

A Suspension of Public Opinion Requested.

TO THE EDITOR:—Your article on the above subject may probably do great injustice to Mr. DeCosmos, M.P. Being one who supported him at the last election I think it but right that you should have awaited the receipt of the official report—or, at least, the Canadian newspapers—before condemning him in the way you have done upon the very dubious authority of a telegram. In behalf of an absent gentleman who is charged with the utterance of sentiments that are repulsive to every loyal person I hope you will suspend further adverse comment until the charge shall have been substantiated upon more reliable authority. ENGLAND'S COMMERCE.

Enormous Developments of Britain's Imports and Exports.

LONDON, April 8.—The returns issued by the British Board of Trade show that during the month just passed British imports have increased, compared with the month last year, by £1,200,000, and British exports increased £1,900,000.

During the course of a recent debate in the Imperial House of Commons, Mr. Chamberlain, President of the Board of Trade, dealt the "Fair Trade" movement some crushing blows. Taking up the cry so familiar to Canadians, that the Americans were driving English edge-tools out of the English market, he admitted that "the Birmingham trade in those tools was at one time seriously affected by competition from America. The fact was that the tools were not cheaper, but that some new maker had discovered a better process for manufacturing them. The English manufacturer was conservative and slow to adopt the new methods, but now that they had been adopted the trade was as flourishing as it was twenty years ago. In the face of the competition which had arisen, both English manufacturers and English workmen had given their hearts to the matter, and were now producing both better and cheaper tools than America, and were successfully competing with their American rivals in Australia and the Colonies." Proceeding he considered the cases of other special industries to which reference had been made. "In the case of cotton the raw material was extremely bulky and costly in transit and the Americans had the raw material. In spite of that and of the ingenuity of the population which ought to enable them to compete with any foreign country, not only in their own supply, but in the supply of neutral markets, and in spite of their imposing duties of from thirty to sixty per cent. their total export of cotton manufactures was less than two millions sterling. Yet, notwithstanding what was called their one-sided free trade, this country exported seventy millions sterling of cotton manufactures. This country actually exported into the United States, in spite of the prohibitive tariff, no less than three and a half millions sterling, while they sent us only three-quarters of a million. (Hear, hear.) Then, in the case of wool, America had the same advantages that she had in respect of cotton. The woolen industries had been specially protected by duties of from 40 to 100 per cent. What had been the result? The total export of woolen manufactures from the United States was £45,000, while that from the United Kingdom was 20 millions, and that at a time of great depression. What was more striking still than that the very industry which was specially protected by enormous duties should only export £45,000 worth of goods in the year was this, that the woolen imports into the United States from different countries during the year amounted to eleven millions sterling. They found, therefore, in the case of the protected industries that protection was accompanied by the entire absence of foreign trade. On the other hand, the free industries of this country owed their prosperity mainly to the enormous exports. Having dealt with the protected industries of the United States, he would turn to the connected industries. The boot and shoe trade was not specially protected, but a heavy duty of from 15 to 25 per cent. had been placed upon tanned leather. The effect upon the connected boot and shoe industry had been that the export had fallen from over a million of dollars in 1863 to $475,000 in 1869, and had not increased since. On the other hand, in the United Kingdom the export of boots and shoes had risen from £1,400,000 in 1860 to £1,600,000 in 1880. The case of the shipping trade had already been referred to by the hon. member for Oxfordshire. So long as ships were built of wood the trade of the United States progressed in even a more rapid ratio than that of the United Kingdom. The United States having an enormous seaboard, there was nothing to prevent them from being the greatest carrying nation in the world except their protective system. On every article that entered the construction of a ship and upon the ship itself, there was an enormous duty, and the result had been that the carrying trade of the world had passed away from America, and had come to this country. The figures were as follows:—In the first place, he found the value of exports and imports carried in American vessels—he was dealing in the American trade—was $344,000,000 in 1871 and $223,000,000 in 1880, that was to say there was a fall of $71,000,000 in nine years. At the same time the amount carried in foreign bottoms rose from $739,000,000 to $1,295,800,000. He also found that the building of American shipping, which was 272,000 tons in 1850 had remained stationary in 1870, and was still only 276,000 tons, while in 1880, ten years later, it had fallen to 257,000 tons. At the same time the tonnage building of English shipping had increased from 220,000 to 473,000, that was to say the tonnage of English shipping had more than doubled in the time during which the tonnage of American shipping built in America had diminished by nearly one-half."

SKOBELOFF VERY ILL.

EX-EMPRESS EUGENIE SUED.

LONDON, April 26.—Bradlaugh has brought suit against the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms of the Commons for ejecting him from the lobby last session. He also has begun suit against Newdegate, M.P., for maintenance.

The race for 2000 guineas at Newmarket was won by Shotover, Quicktime was second.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 26.—Many shops and houses belonging to Jews were burned last night at Kamenitz. Damage five hundred thousand roubles.

BERLIN, April 26.—Gen. Skobeloff is dangerously ill.

LONDON, April 22.—Next week is expected to be of great parliamentary interest. On Monday Mr. Gladstone will introduce the budget, the chief feature of which is believed to be an alteration in wine and spirit duties. In the present state of the revenue no startling surprises are possible, but unusual interest is expected by the fact that this is known to be Mr. Gladsaone's last budget. Tuesday the government will announce its decision regarding changes in the Land Act. These may prove of some importance, as the ministry have been placed in an awkward dilemma by the conservative policy, and must change front or be beaten. Their failure is universally acknowledged and the coercion policy has made them subjects of ridicule everywhere. The total number of 618 suspects have been imprisoned under the act, and yet Foster figures that the country is in greater disorder than ever. The third question pending is the cloture which rises Thursday or Friday. The government has cut out a busy week and it is not unlikely all its plans will be upset by the Irish members who are getting exasperated at the continued detention of suspects. There seems to be good authority, by the way, for stating the American suspects will be released on the assurance that they will leave the country. In fact this is open to all suspects but Parnell and the others who refuse to accept such a condition. If the Americans also refuse the government will scarcely know how to act.

The Standard says: The speedy release of American suspects on terms that may involve the recall of Lowell, gradually release all political suspects and treat those detained upon suspicion of complicity in outrages, the substitution of the summary jurisdiction vested in magistrates, and amendment of the arrears and purchase clauses of the Land Act, are the principal features of the ministerial programme.

DUBLIN, April 23.—Darwin's death has brought out a series of tributes, English and continental, to him as the foremost modern man of science. The unanimity thus far is unbroken by ecclesiastical comment.

The performance of "Patience" on Monday at the Savoy theatre, begins the second year of continuous representation under Mr. Sullivan's conduct.

An explosion at the Court theatre caused great alarm. A panic was avoided by the coolness of the Prince of Wales, who ordered his own party to sit still, and signalled the rest of the house to preserve order. It was soon discovered that there was no danger.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 23.—The Golos says: In consequence of the recent report of the minister of justice, the Emperor has ordered the trials of all persons accused of outrages against the Jews to be treated as urgent and be taken up without regard to their order on the list.

MARSEILLES, April 23.—A suit was opened Saturday by the corporation of Marseilles against ex-Empress Eugenie to compel her to relinquish the imperial chateau, presented under the empire to the emperor by the municipality, which according to the mayor now belongs to the town.

EASTERN STATES.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Collector Robertson has ordered careful investigation in regard to recent importations of sugar. It has been represented to the collector that certain parties, whose names are withheld for the present, have been evading paying duty by bringing sugar from the East Indies to the United States via the Hawaiian islands. After being taken to the Hawaiian islands in a raw state, the sugar is put through the centrifugal process, then it is shipped to San Francisco, where it is entered as an Hawaiian product. From San Francisco it is sent direct to New York importers, thus evading a duty of three cents per pound, which they would be required to pay if importations were made direct from the East Indies. The matter is causing much excitement among the sugar importers and refiners of this city. The secretary of the treasury of Washington has stated that he is in doubt as to whether this method of importing sugar in the roundabout way above described is illegal or not. As soon as he has ascertained all of the facts and arrived at a decision, he will make an official ruling in the matter.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 23.—Chinese here propose to become citizens. Ung Joe took the oath and full papers yesterday, and Wing Chen Foo and Chang Chap also took out papers.

A regular gang of car thieves was arrested here do-day. All are employes of the company involved, and had committed extensive depredations.

GREENBURG, Ky., April 23,—Hon. W. B. Allen, author of "Allen's History of Kentucky," and one of the oldest Masons in the state, at one time grand master of the grand lodge, aged 80 years, is dead.

DALLAS, Texas, April 23.—Capt. McMurray and a company of Texas rangers have started from Colorado City in pursuit of the train robbers. There is a report this evening that they have surrounded eight in a farm house in the upper Brazos river canyon, six miles from the scene of the crime, that a fight is in progress, and one has been killed while attempting to escape.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 24.—Wm. Hewlett, marshal of Nortonville, shot and mortally wounded one Menser, and killed his son. The marshal recently arrested Menser on a charge of gambling, and the parties meeting at a place called Gradewater to-day, the father and son attacked Hewlett, who shot them in self-defence.

LAKE CITY, Minn., April 23.—At 2 this morning a fire broke out in Neal hotel, which, fanned by an hurricane of wind, soon enveloped the business part of the town, two-thirds of which was destroyed. Five solid squares were burned, causing a loss roughly estimated at $400,000; insurance was $150,000. The whole thing was accomplished in about an hour.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Times Selma, Alabama: on Saturday night points east and south of here for a distance of from 14 to 20 miles, were visited by a combined wind and rain storm that fierceness surpassed any similar occurrence there. The cyclone proper lasted only five minutes and ranged over a track about 12 miles in length and a quarter to a half a mile in breath. Everywhere in its course houses were blown literally to pieces, fences torn down and immense forest trees twisted from their trunks and carried away. Several brick houses were blown off smooth with the ground, and brick and mortar found hundreds of yards off. Five lives were lost, and when complete returns are in it is thought the death list will at least be doubled. At Dr. J. H. Wheedon's plantation near King's Landing, every tree, bush, fence and house on the plantation was swept clean off the face of the earth.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The Herald hints at the formation of a gigantic whisky ring and reports that Kentucky speculators are in the scheme. It says an enormous quantity of distilled spirits are now in bond, nearly a gallon and a half for every man, woman and child in the United States, including Chinese and Indians. This fact shows the magnitude of the game the ring is playing.

GEORGETOWN, (Ohio) April 27.—Wm. Stulls, recently discharged from the employ of Collin Summers, a prominent farmer near here, shot Mrs. Summers six times with a revolver last Sunday evening, killing her instantly. The deed was done because Stull thought his victim caused his dismissal. This is the man who was coralled near Franklin, Pa., this afternoon, and shot himself to prevent lynching.

ST. LOUIS, April 24.—A sensational elopement is reported of John G. Curtis, 17 years old, son of a former big clothier, and Mrs. Jennie Dixon, wife of a traveller for Lorillard's of Kentucky. She left behind three small children and a shocked and mortified lot of relatives. Her husband is in New Mexico or Colorado. The truants are supposed to have gone to Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Washington special: It is generally felt to-day that Blaine came out triumphant in the Shipherd affair. Belmont's attack on him is recognized as indirectly the work of Blaine's political enemies in his own party, Belmont being made a cat's paw by Conkling men. Blaine is evidently coming out of the investigation in excellent shape.

BUFFALO, April 23.—Lemuel L. Crocker, one of the most widely known business men of this city, made a general assignment yesterday for the benefit of creditors, to Leonidas Doty. It is impossible to form anything like a correct idea of the status of his affairs. He is lessee and superintendent of the New York Central stock yards proprietor of large fertilizer works, interested in the malting business here, and in the Marion Brewing Co. of Jersey City, and other manufacturing and commercial enterpirses. Non-collection from farmers who had bought quantities of fertilizers has been assigned as the cause. His liabilities amount to several hundred thousand dollars, and assets are thought to be very small.

BUFFALO, April 24.—The resources of the First National Bank, recently failed, are $1,118,834; assets, $504,569.

BOSTON, April 3.—The Herald announces the collapse of the American Electric Light Company, of which Col. Fred. Grant is President. Among the directors are Wm. Windom, ex-secretary of the treasury, and other Washington gentlemen. The company owes $15,000, and has no assets.

BOSTON, April 24.—In answer to a statement of the Boston manager of the Electric Light Co., New York backers of the company, E. M. Fox, George Crusby, Stephen Moriarty, Wm. McMahon and others, make counter charges of fraud in the management and sales of stock on the part of Boston officers. Legal complications, perhaps in the criminal court will probably ensue.

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—The revenue cutter Corwin, Capt. Healy in command, sailed for the Arctic ocean yesterday. The Corwin was under weigh within four hours after orders were received to start for the Arctic.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—West Oakland was visited last night by a destructive fire. The flames were first discovered in the Point planing mill, which spreading, destroyed seven buildings and most of their contents. Total damage $35,000. The loss is partially covered by insurance. Another fire yesterday in Oakland occasioned about $2,000 damages.

GRASS VALLEY, April 23.—A. D. Mason, a prominent attorney of this place, was shot last night by E. A. Roberts, son of E. W. Roberts, an old and leading lawyer. Eye witnesses of the affair refuse to be interviewed. Mason's wound is pronounced fatal.

TUCSON, April 25.—A correspondent at Safford's gives an account of the recent Indian attack, as follows: Stanislaus Mestas, aged nine years, has just arrived from Stevens' sheep camp with the following story of the Indian massacre on the 18th instant. Before daylight the Indians attacked the camp whilst we were all asleep. My father and five other men attempted to get their guns but were too late. The Indians rushed in from all sides and overpowered them before a shot could be fired. The work of slaughter then begun. An Indian put the muzzle of his gun against the head of one man and fired, blowing his brains against the floor and walls. I saw them kill my mother and two little brothers by beating their brains out with stones. They killed five and then tied my father and tortured him most dreadfully. He begged them to spare him but they only tortured him the more. When they were tired of torturing him one of them split his skull with an axe. An Indian squaw, wife of one of four friendly Apache sheep-herders, who worked with us, saved my life by holding me behind her and begging them to spare me. When all the Mexicans were dead except me the Indians left.

The squaw who arrived with the boy says there were ninety-three warriors in the attacking party. They called themselves Chiricahuas and said that they were going straight to San Carlos agency to kill all the whites and get more Indians to join them. They also declared that they would kill all of the inhabitants of this valley. The hostiles frequently declared that their whole desire was to kill in retaliation for the three Indians executed recently at Fort Grant. The people of the valley have gathered here.

Later news from the front is that the whole force of about three hundred Indians, including women and children, crossed the Southern Pacific track last night, going South, near Lordsburg, with the cavalry in close pursuit. The present outbreak is the most disastrous which has ever occurred in Arizona, and not less than forty persons have been killed. To-night a mass meeting was held here. Gov. Tritle presided and it was determined to raise a force of volunteers to take the field for two or three months.

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO.

TERRIBLE MASSACRES.

FORT BOWIE, (A. T.) April 26.—A courier reports that a small mining camp about twenty miles south, known as Ayres, is surrounded by 150 hostiles, and three men have been killed and one wounded. Horsemen have been sent to notify Capt. Madden.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—A Shakespeare (N. M.) dispatch says a telegram just received from the operator at St. Inez Pass reports that the town of Galeyville, in Arizona, just over the New Mexican line, was burned and completely destroyed this afternoon by Indians. Thirty-five white people were killed. The Indians are scattering in small bands and making for the Chichuahua Mountains. Forsythe with his entire command is in pursuit.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 26.—A Tucson special from Tombstone to the "Citizen" says that the Indians attacked an American mining camp at Bocuchi, Sonora, on April 26th, killing Merres, Lowry, Ray and Rickey. Three others made their escape. The Indians carried away all the camp property of value. Many Americans are in the neighboring hills, and more murders are expected.

A PAST IDEAL WOMAN.

In Athens the ideal man must have intellect as well as strength, grace, culture, beauty as well as courage and patriotism; while the woman who would be respected and made the mother of future citizens must be modest, home staying, gentle, and essentially subordinate to her master. Rome saw the idealization of physical force in man and of a corresponding masculine character in woman—a certain virility and power which borrowed something of their stoicism from the Spartans and something of their ferocity from the Israelites. The Scandinavians, men and women both, were the northern transcripts of the Roman ideal; but—confining ourselves now to the feminine ideal only—the lady of the middle ages in some respects went back to the Athenian form, her virtue lying less in strength than in patience, less in patriotism than in domesticity, less in courage than in sweetness, in self-sacrifice and in love.

A FAILURE establishes only this, that our determination to succeed was not strong enough.

To Business Men and Others.

Preliminary work is at present in progress for the publication of a

of this province which will contain the names of all residents, a classified list of advertisers, and complete information relative to trade, commerce, manufactures, agriculture and climate, governmental affairs, banking and finance, insurance, corporations, hotels, public buildings, steamship lines, railways, real estate, gold and coal mining, fisheries, timber, &c.

Full information in a comprehensive form and strongly bound for office use.

Mr. WILLIAM WOLZ has been specially engaged and will on or about April 1st visit the various country districts on the Island and Lower Mainland, New Westminster, Burrard Inlet, Yale, Nanaimo, Comox and Cowichan. Local agents will be employed in distant parts of the province. No time or expense will be spared to make this, the first volume of the NEW B. C. DIRECTORY, complete in every respect. Advertisements for those residing within the province payable on presentation of book; if for non residents, payable in advance. R. T. C. R. HALL, Grayville, Ill., says:—"I have sold at retail price since the 4th of December last 156 bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil guaranteeing every bottle. I must say I never sold a medicine in my life that gave such universal satisfaction. In my own case, with a badly ulcerated throat, after a physician penciling it for several days to no effect, the Eclectric Oil cured it thoroughly in twenty-four hours, and in threatened croup in my children this winter it never failed to relieve almost immediately. 44

FOR colds, coughs, asthma, in short for any and all derangements of the lungs or respiratory organs, or for any complaint tending towards consumption, nothing is so reliable as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. In all ordinary cases it is a certain cure, and it affords sure relief even in advanced stages. *

SEALED TENDERS

—FOR—

RAILROAD TIES.

WILL BE RECEIVED UNTIL 12 M., MAY 15th, 1882, for furnishing Two Hundred and Thirty-two Thousand (232,000) Cross Ties along the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, between Emory and Burrard Inlet, viz:—

Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Port Moody Station, or at points on the line of said railway, between Port Moody and Pitt River.

Other Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) thereof shall be delivered at Pitt River, or between Pitt River and Kanaka Creek.

Other Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) thereof at Kanaka Creek, or between Kanaka Creek and Stave River.

Other Twenty-five Thousand (25,000) thereof at Stave River, or between Stave River and Hatzic River.

Other Forty Thousand (40,000) thereof at Hatzic River, or between Hatzic River and Harrison River.

Other Twenty-seven Thousand (27,000) thereof at Harrison River, or between Harrison River and the lower end of Maria Slough.

Other Twenty Thousand (20,000) thereof at the lower end of Maria Slough, or between said lower end of Maria Slough and Tunnel "C" of said Railway, which Tunnel is about 15 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other Ten Thousand (10,000) thereof at said Tunnel "C," or between said Tunnel "C" and Tunnel "D," which latter Tunnel is about 11 miles below Emory's Bar.

Other Fifteen Thousand (15,000) thereof at Tunnel "D" aforesaid, or between said Tunnel "D" and Tunnel "F" on said railway.

Other Twenty Thousand (20,000) thereof at the said Tunnel "F," or between said Tunnel "F" and Emory's Bar, or at Emory's Bar.

All such Sleepers or Cross Ties shall be delivered alongside the Railway and within Fifty feet of the centre line of the track, and shall be piled up so not to interfere with the work of construction.

The bottom of the pile shall be as nearly as practicable on a level with the grade of the railway track and the said pile shall be so made as to permit of ready inspection and counting; and wherever such ties shall be made near water lines, bodies of water or rivers, the same shall be placed in such location that the bottom of the pile shall in all events be above the line of high water. It will be necessary to deliver at least Fifteen Thousand (15,000) acceptable ties per month from date of entering into contract until completion of same.

Ties must be smoothly hewed or sawed free from all Scorebacks and chopped or sawed square at both ends eight feet long, flatted on two opposite side to uniform thickness of six inches, the flatted surface being not less than six inches on either side at the small end, and when sawed they shall be eight inches width and six inches in depth.

All Ties must be sound timber, full size, and acceptable by the Chief Engineer of said Railway, or they will not be paid for.

Ten per cent. will be reserved upon payment of accepted Ties until completion of contract, and Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000) approved security required before signing contract. The security or securities be given must be described in the tender. The owest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

Tenders to be addressed to the undersigned, Yale, B. C., and endorsed, Tenders for Ties on Contract No. 92.

GRIMAULT AND CO.,
PHARMACEUTICAL CHEMISTS,
PARIS: 8, RUE VIVIENNE, 8. PARIS.

DISEASES OF THE CHEST CURED.

GRIMAULT & CO.'S SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME.

We invite all who are ailing from DISEASES OF THE CHEST to resort to Grimault & Co.'s SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME as the ONLY ONE YIELDING UNFAILING RESULTS in the treatment of PHTHISIS, PULMONALIS, ASTHMAS, Bronchitis and various kinds of Coughs. Grimault's Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime is of a ROSE COLOUR, is delivered in FLAT OVAL BOTTLES and NEVER IN QUADRANGULAR BOTTLES. Call expressly for said bottle, bearing the SIGNATURE GRIMAULT & CO.

DR. LEAS'

SOLUBLE PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

Clear as spring water and tasteless; has the advantage over all ferruginous preparations of containing Iron and Phosphorus, which are the elements of blood. It cures chlorosis, pains in the stomach, difficult digestion, dismenorrhœa, anæmia, general debility and poorness of the blood, and agrees especially with the most delicate stomachs.

WOMEN'S AND CHILDREN'S DISEASES.

No more Cod-Liver Oil.

Grimault's Syrup of Iodized Horse-Raddish.

This medicine has been administered with the utmost success in the Hospitals of Paris. It is a perfect substitute for COD LIVER OIL and has been found most beneficial in DISEASES OF THE CHEST, SCROFULA, LYMPHATIC DISORDERS, GREEN SICKNESS, MUSCULAR ATONY and LOSS OF APPETITE. It regenerates the constitution in purifying the blood, it being the most powerful depurgative known. It has also been applied with happy results in DISEASES OF THE SKIN. Further, it will be found to be of great benefit to young children subject to HUMORS and OBSTRUCTION OF THE GLANDS.

GRIMAULT & CO.'S MATICO, CAPSULES AND LIQUID.

Where all other medicines have failed these preparations will always effect a cure. They insure a rapid and extraordinary cure of severe, recent and chronic cases of private disease. They are used in the Hospitals of Paris by the most celebrated physicians, and are found greatly superior to all hitherto known mineral remedies, Copaiba and Cubebs. The injection is used in recent, and the capsules in the more chronic cases.

DUSART'S SYRUP OF LACTO-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

TONIC, RECONSTITUENT and DIGESTIVE, of prime order, particularly suitable to FEEBLE SUBJECTS, CONVALESCENTS, OLD PEOPLE and NURSERY CHILDREN, who find in them CALCAREOUS ELEMENTS entering into the CONSTITUTION OF THE BONES. Well adapted to LADIES IN THE FAMILY WAY, and WET NURSES (whose milk it enriches).

ASTHMA! ASTHMA!!

GRIMAULT & CO.'S INDIAN CIGARETTES

ASTHMA, NERVOUS COUGHS, CHRONIC LARYNGITIS, HOARSENESS, LOSS OF VOICE, FACIAL NEURALGIA, and INSOMNIA, are rapidly relieved by using these Cigarettes.

SICK HEADACHE! NEURALGIA!

GRIMAULT & CO.'S GUARANA

single powder of this vegetable production is sufficient to cure instantly the MOST VIOLENT SICK HEADACHE. It is the most valuable remedy against DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, and all disorders proceeding from derangement of the Stomach or Bowels.
